Reasons Candidate would be an asset to the Corrugated Packaging council:

The wide range of positions I have held within the Industry from Field Service Technician, Installation Project manager and now sales gives me a broad view of where the industry has been and where it is going. I have worked in the trenches with many that now leaders in the industry. The positions I have held have allowed be to be in a majority of the corrugated plants in the USA along with some in Canada and Europe. I also have the honor of being mentored daily by 2 former TAPPI board members, Jeff Pallini and Paul Hrubesky. I have served on the Fosber safety and 401K committees.

Bio:

Joe Slattery is the Midwest Sales Manager and Corporate Accounts manager for Fosber America and works with the inside and regional sales managers to find the best solutions for Fosber's integrated customers. Joe does this while working personally with the Midwest region integrated and independent customers. He works with his team to find solutions and opportunities for how Fosber machinery will provide the best ROI for the customer. Prior to being a sales manager, for the past 12 years, Joe did field service and installations for Fosber, and has worked with many current industry leaders managing over a 100 installs of dryend, wet end and full Fosber corrugators. Between field service, Installations and sales, Joe has been to a majority of the corrugated plants in the USA along with many in Canada, and Europe. This variety of positions within Fosber gives him valuable insight as to was has made our industry strong and where our industry can progress to.
